

751—8.3(8D) Role of administrative telecommunications advisory council. The administrative telecommunications advisory council is responsible for establishing scheduling and site usage policies for noneducational users of the network, including libraries, subject to the approval of the commission. The administrative telecommunications advisory council shall establish conflict resolution policies for noneducational users subject to the approval of the commission to resolve scheduling disputes.